To the Committee,

Please vote yes on this bill. I am retired from community nursing and during my working years met many Rhode Islanders who depend on utilities to stay well in their homes. People use oxygen concentrators, some people medically need air conditioning just to name a few reasons that cutting off electricity can put someone in the emergency room. Prevention is better and cheaper overall. Doctors should be able to vouch for their patients and help them prevent shutoffs.

Thank you for your consideration,
