

LGBTQ Advocates and Supports call on Rhode Island General Assembly to reject harmful legislation

We represent a coalition of local organizations, advocates, and community members joining together to support an inclusive Rhode Island and to drown out attacks made in our state house attempting to undermine the well-being of LGBTQ+ people. The majority of Rhode Islanders support equality, and we've proven that from one legislative session to the next. The repeat introductions of anti-LGBTQ+ bills in our general assembly run counter to our commitment to protect our families, friends, and neighbors. We call on our legislators to reject these and any similar shameful proposals that seek to limit Rhode Islanders' rights and freedoms.

(H7727, H7781, H7873, H7884, S2041, S2104, S2423, S2424, S2660, S2703: follow this link to learn more about these proposals.)

The proposed bills introduced in the Rhode Island State House are built on model legislation from extremist ideological groups seeking to use government to impose their views on everyone. Censoring accurate and robust education and preventing students from fully participating in school life is a disservice to all our young people. Banning access to legal, life-saving medical care that is supported by every major U.S. medical association - representing 1.3 million doctors- as safe, effective. standard-of-care medicine is dangerous and harmful to everyone in the Ocean State.

The arguments used to push forward these harmful measures aren't new. Opponents are evoking the same kinds of disinformation used against LGBTQ+ people from the 1970s through the Supreme Court decision settling marriage equality. Significantly, what has changed is their target. The groups opposing LGBTQ+ people's visibility in public life are now targeting the trans community, and especially young transgender people, for bullying, harassment, and intimidation. As in the past, those pushing harmful policies claim their interest is in "protecting the children," but they use their platforms to do the exact opposite.

Rhode Island protected transgender people under the law more than 20 years ago, recognizing that as the necessary first step to end the mistreatment too often experienced by the community. Nearly a decade has passed since our schools implemented policies to support transgender, nonbinary, and gender diverse students. We should be well beyond debates about transgender Rhode Islanders' basic dignity and humanity and respect for their ability to live, work, go to school and participate in public life on the same terms as everyone else.

Rhode Islanders want our elected senators and representatives to work on policies that will actually improve the lives of everyone in the Ocean State, not stir up baseless fear about a small group of people. We cannot ignore the introduction of proposals that would so greatly harm transgender, nonbinary, and gender diverse residents of our state and our families. We urge our legislators to reaffirm Rhode Island's values, reject these dangerous proposals, and ensure that our state motto of Hope continues to apply to everyone.

Sincerely,
