RE: Letter Regarding House Bill 8057 – An Act Relating to Taxation – Sales and Use Taxes – Liability and Computation

Dear Chair Abney:

I am writing on behalf of the Rhode Island Department of Revenue, Division of Taxation (“Division”), to: i) express concerns regarding issues with proposed House Bill 8057 as currently drafted; ii) explain the background and current statutory context in order to clarify the intended and unintended consequences of this bill; and iii) make recommendations and request your support in implementing those recommendations.

This letter is not intended as a position in support of or opposition to the bill, but only as recommendations on drafting to provide clarity in the bill and to aid tax administration and compliance.

As you know, this bill would amend R.I. Gen. Laws § 44-18-36.1, entitled “Hotel tax,” to remove language allowing the exemption from the state hotel tax for residences rented in their entirety. The bill is set to take effect on January 1, 2025.

As currently drafted, the bill does not specify if the effective date is for returns and payments received on or after January 1, 2025, or if it is for rental activity that occurs after this date. This ambiguity would cause administrability concerns given the process for collection and distribution of hotel tax. For example, under the current statutes, hotel tax from rental activity in January would be due and paid in February and distributed to the appropriate recipients in March. Further, striking the language rather than adding provisions to specify applicable periods would create unintended consequences as a result of application to prior periods. The Division respectfully requests that the bill be revised to resolve any uncertainty caused by the effective date.

Also, the bill as drafted may result in an unintentionally broad application of the hotel tax to encompass all rentals, which may not be the intent of the proposed change. Finally, the Division will have implementation costs, including allocation of resources along with form and system changes, associated with the bill. Therefore, the Division would suggest an effective date later than January 1, 2025.

The Division takes no position with respect to the remainder of the proposed legislation. Rather, the Division is concerned solely with the issues of clarity, tax compliance, and tax administration. As such, the Division respectfully suggests that the bill be redrafted for clarity.

I look forward to working with you to address the issue raised in this letter and appreciate your consideration.

Very truly yours,

Neena S. Savage
Tax Administrator
