

Gov. Dan McKee; Speaker Joe Shekarchi; Rep. Marvin Abney, House Finance Committee; Sen. Dominick Ruggerio, Senate President; Sen. Louis DiPalma, Senate Finance Committee,

440 people have signed a petition on Action Network telling you to It's Time to ACT on the Act On Climate! Decarbonize RI's Buildings.

Here is the petition they signed:

In 2021, you enacted the Act On Climate with overwhelming public support and huge vote margins. The Act requires a 45% reduction in climate-destroying pollution by 2030, an 80% reduction by 2040, and a 100% reduction by 2050.

Yet, in each of the three years that followed that enactment, you didn't pass the Building Decarbonization Act (BDA)—which is the first step to reducing one of state's biggest sources of emissions. The BDA merely requires the state's largest privately-owned and public buildings to monitor and report on their energy use. This monitoring is needed to develop emissions standards to rein in pollution and reduce energy costs.

Gov. McKee's FY2026 budget proposal allocates an OER employee to administer this program for state-owned buildings only. Based on the experience of Providence, which contains a majority of the state's large private buildings and already administers a similar reporting program, the scope of work in the budget request can reasonably include not just state-owned buildings but also municipal and large commercial buildings over 50,000 gross square feet. Many companies, universities, and hospitals are already tracking their energy use and can share it to the Office of Energy Resources.

We ask that you pass the 2025 Building Decarbonization Act (H5493, S0091) and match its language in the FY2026 budget by including all public buildings and all commercial buildings over 50,000 square feet in the benchmarking and performance standards. Incentives to make heating more efficient stand to save property owners, including state and local governments, money in the long term.

We don't have any more years to procrastinate meaningful action on climate pollution from buildings. Let's follow the lead of Massachusetts, seven other states, and dozens of cities nationwide, and start actually acting on the Act On Climate by amending the budget article 3 section 15 and finally passing the BDA.

You can view each petition signer and the comments they left you below.

Thank you,

Climate Action RI

Businessmen and governments alike know that we improve what we monitor, even when improvement is not mandatory. Give private and business-owned buildings an incentive to improve by including them in the Building Decarbonization Act. Rhode Island will not achieve its climate goals without this sector. This path to success is calm, rational, well thought out and can be free of conflict. There are no downsides. Please include private and business owned buildings in the Building Decarbonization Act! Thank you!

RI's Energy Plan (Energy 2035) concludes that "Increasing the use of Renewable Thermal technologies will lead to an increase in fuel diversity across the thermal energy sector, helping to reduce Rhode Island's vulnerability to disruptions in energy infrastructure, increase consumer choice, and synergize with the increasing deployment of distributed renewable electricity generation (e.g. electric heat pumps)." It said that a major investment in Renewable Thermal will provide a net benefit to the state as a whole with near-zero impacts on energy affordability while contributing to economic growth and job creation. Growing the RT market will also help to drive the technology cost reductions needed to provide energy savings to consumers and provide greater energy price stability through reduced reliance on volatile national and global fossil fuel markets.

Back in 2017, our firm were stakeholders in the thermal market study that resulted in The Rhode Island Renewable Thermal Market Development Strategy, recommending that RI adopt a Clean Heat Standard used to raise the funds needed to make the transition to clean buildings possible. pp. 36-53. The report indicated that a Clean Heat Standard would provide clear signals for private investment helping the state unlock economic opportunity, producing as much as $193 million in lifetime net benefits, including employment and environmental impacts, and reduced vulnerability to disruptions in energy infrastructure, increase consumer choice, and synergies with increasing distributed generation systems. p. 4-5. RI needs to fund a thermal transition fund that could issue grants and revolving loans to support new proposed thermal solutions, especially favoring low income and "hard to reach customers" as needed to make the transition affordable. The report indicated that one market barrier to bringing such benefits to RI is that renewable thermal technologies tend to receive too little public policy support. p. 34. It is far past time to change that.

In the PUC's pending Future of Gas proceeding, RI hired a consultant named E3 to study our thermal transition. Their resulting report indicates that RI will face $2.6 billion in unrecovered rate base in 2050, unless a managed transition can avoid up to 50% of capital replacements. p. 6, 8 It says that through targeted electrification, annual costs of the system could be reduced by up to 35% by 2050, while reducing potentially unrecovered rate base to $1.5 billion. Such savings can then be reinvested as financial incentives needed to usher in the electrification transition.

It is time to turn away from business as usual - we need building decarbonization to Act on Climate & to deliver a more secure and more affordable energy future for RI.

Please, make this bill as strong as it can be! It can only benefit Rhode Islanders. Besides helping us to meet our climate goals, it will make buildings much more comfortable to be in. We know from personal experience. Over the past few years, we have been electrifying and retrofitting our old home. What a difference it makes in comfort, and in efficiencies for heating and cooling. A bit of upfront cost can go a long way to making new homes and buildings really comfortable places to be. So for the climate, and for the people, please make this a stronger bill.
